

Saturday Special

100 Hugro India Brooms

at 59c each

Only the finest of the famous, long-wearing Calmyra Bassine Fibre is used in Hugro brooms. It has all the good qualities of bristle and the best broom corn, and none of the faults.

It is like a fairy's wand in your hand, so wonderfully does it get over the floor and into the smallest corner and out-of-the-way nook.

Hugro Brooms Are

Easy on you —

Easy on your floors, rugs and carpets —

Easy on your pocketbook — for you know what ordinary brooms are costing you —

Easy on everything, in fact, but DIRT.

Will outwear three ordinary brooms. Guaranteed for one whole year.

You water your HUGRO like a plant. It makes it grow new again.

See the Brooms in our window, and be sure to get one Saturday for 59c. Only two to a customer.

Ten more Rosett guinea pigs arrived at the fire station from Medford, Mass., yesterday to become occupants of the heat wooden and wire structure, equipped with seven floors and a runway from each to allow the young favorites of the firemen to ramble at will from floor No. 1 to 7. This contrivance is an invention of the regulars. Catering to guinea pigs is a new diversion of the firemen, but their work will not be in vain, as the state laboratory is only too glad to pay $175 for every available guinea pig to be used in experimental work. And it is with this field in view that the men have invested their surplus silver and gold certificates.
The pool and bowling team representing Barre, journeyed to Montpelier last evening and handed that team a defeat both in bowling and in pool. It was a very interesting game all around and the players of both sides fought with all their might and main. There was a great amount of cheering and cowbells and Klaxon automobile horns were also very much in evidence. In bowling, Barre defeated Montpelier by 37 pins, as follows: Barre, 451-445-470-1366; Montpelier, 451-432-446-1329. The pool was as follows: Batchelder (B) 100, Bartlett (M) 93; Loranger (B) 94, Robinson (M) 100; Godfrey (B) 100, Dern (M) 84; Miller (B) 100, Mathieu (M) 90.

An interested group of people gathered in the room of the Barre Historical society, Inc., yesterday afternoon to listen to a paper on "House Furnishings," given by J. Frank Perry. Treating the subject in an historical way, Mr. Perry, who is himself an enthusiastic collector of old-time articles, described many of the pieces of furniture used by our ancestors and also spoke of the different periods to which certain styles belonged. He held the close attention of his hearers at all times. The paper is one of a series to be given and a copy of each will be placed with the society's possessions for use and reference in future years.

WILLIAMSTOWN

Mrs. Thomas Poland has lately been quite sick but is now a little better.

Universalist church—Special rally day Sunday service Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. A. N. Blackford of Rochester will preach. Members of the parish all come.
At the evening service next Sunday in the Congregational church, an illustrated lecture on the Coast de Alene mining region in northern Idaho will be given.
The funeral of Mrs. Louise Whitcomb, who died yesterday, will be held Saturday forenoon at 11 o'clock, instead of at 2 p. m., as stated in yesterday's Times.
Remember the week of March 24-31 is the time to collect old clothing for the suffering nations abroad. Please leave your contributions with Mrs. Musette Seaver any time during the week. In the quarry district of Williamstown the collection is in charge of Mrs. J. K. Price and the clothing may be left with her.
Any who may desire to subscribe for the Red Cross magazine may do so now: $1 per year to those who are members of the Red Cross and $2 to those who are not members. Please communicate with Mrs. Musette Seaver in regard to it.

Gives No Hope for Lower Prices on Shoes.

The shoe retailers of Barre arrived home late yesterday afternoon after attending the annual meeting of the Vermont Shoe Retailers' association, held in the New Sherwood hotel. The meeting was largely attended and interesting talks were given by I. H. Morse of Lowell, Mass., head of a chain of retail shoe dealers in New England, his subject being "Financing Retail Shoe Business," and also by W. G. Brown of Manchester, N. H., who gave an interesting talk on "Store Organization," and George Tilden of Barre, who spoke in brief about shoe retailing.

The tendency for prices on shoes as gathered from shoe manufacturers and tanners is to gradually increase, owing to the scarcity of calfskins, the lack of sole leather and the steady increase in higher wages. The general public should not get the idea that the price of shoes, low or high, men's or women's, will come down a lot, for it will not and cannot as long as present conditions exist.
Lace boots will be much in evidence this year for women. The tops of shoes in some instances will be from one to one and one-half inches higher, more leather and fabric, but with the additional material will come an increase of from $1 to $2 per pair of shoes.
This will not be wholly because of the lengthening of the tops, however, but because of the scarcity of kid skin, England having placed an embargo on them, and they can only be bought through that country at the present time.
Oxfords will be in vogue for the early spring and summer months. Louis and French heels will be in demand for fall. Military heels will be stronger than ever. Five colors will prevail, with the introduction of beaver as the new shade. The other prevailing shades will be gray, medium and dark, and brown, light and dark.
Men's shoes will be higher in price because of the scarcity of upper and sole leather. The latter was commandeered for army use.—adv.
